Gay, Sydney Howard, 1814-1888; editor

To Rev. Samuel May Jr.

New York. The writer thinks the continuance of the American Anti-Slavery Society and the Anti-Slavery Standard should depend on the outcome of the War and should be terminated when the War has ended successfully for the North.

Draft of a Reply to the Irish Address

Written from? The writer apologizes for the delay in answering the Address. Explains that the Association has no permanent committee to handle formal communications. Congratulates the Irish Unitarians on the passage of the Dissenters' Chapel Bill. Claims that Unitarian aims are misunderstood by the Irish Unitarians, and says that American Unitarians have done the best they can to combat slavery. There is a division of opinion among Unitarians as to the best method of abolishing Slavery.

«Boston?». The writer sends this letter by Caroline, who will presumably spend Thanksgiving with the family. Remarks that Anne «Warren Weston» appears to enjoy herself very much, but the writer has come to the conclusion that there is little enjoyment in this world. Hopes that Deborah's knee is better now. Is spending "about half of the time" with Maria «Weston Chapman»; "I enjoy myself greatly while with her, and feel rather unpleasantly when I am separated." Tells about the "rage" for transferring pictures to wood, about her fondness for playing the piano, about reading aloud, etc. They go to Mr. «Alexander» Young's church, but "drop into Mr. Greenwood's" in bad weather. Begs for a long letter and sends jocular Thanksgiving wishes.

The writer tells about attending a large sumptuous party in Wingham, and her subsequent social contacts in Boston, including a call at Spring Lane school, where the girls and teachers were delighted to see her. Mentions calling on Miss Crowninshield, whose cousin is alive and well after pretending to hang himself. Describes especially her visits to Mrs. Maria Weston Chapman on West Street, where she saw Henry Grafton Chapman, looking "as pale as ashes". Maria's house is beautiful, "furnished sweetly." Heard an excellent sermon by Dr. Charles Theodore Christian, Follen of Cambridge.

[1704] Anales de Quince días de Dn. Francisco de Quevedo, y
Villegas que escribió...en sueños representa lo que pasaba en Madrid la noche del día 13 de Junio [1704].
N.p. n.d. (116) ff.

This differs entirely from Quevedo's work with the same title, which the author may have used for purposes of concealment. It begins by referring to the rejoicings over the capture, by Philip V of Porto Alegre, which took place June 6, 1704, whereas Quevedo died in 1645.

Ms.A.9.2

Born near Washington, Ga. Ordained a deacon in the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1816. Became a bishop in 1832. The question of his being a slaveholder was raised at the general conference of his church in New York in 1844. It was voted that he should free his slaves, but he threatened to resign his bishopric rather than do this. This action led to a division of the Methodist Church into northern and southern sections. Bishop Andrew went to California in 1851. See main cards for full contents.

To "My Dear Friends"

Newburyport, (Mass.). The writer's age and infirmities make it impossible for her to be present (at the A.S.festival). The writer's interest in the A.S. cause has extended over more than sixty years, "as the little stories I wrote some years since for Mrs. Follen's 'Child's Friend' would show." Reports that "a total revolution has been wrought in the feelings of some of our most proslavery people by the John Brown affair..." Mr. E.V. Smith wrote an account of Cook's funeral for the Newburyport Herald, in which he criticized Governor Wise's course.
